WHAT IS AGARWOOD & OUD OIL

Agarwood is the resinous heartwood that comes from the Aquilaria tree. The Aquilaria tree is a fast-growing subtropical forest tree that Plantations International grows on numerous, sustainably managed Plantations in Thailand, Malaysia and Indonesia.

When Agarwood is distilled into an oil, it produces one of the most valuable raw commodities in the world - Agarwood tree oil also known as "ODD OIL".

Oud Oil is the key ingredient in some of the most expensive fragrances in the world. Top name brands like Versace, Calvin Klein, Hugo Boss to name a few, all have premium fragrance lines that feature Oud Oil.

Due to its high demand and limited supply, high grade Oud Oil has sold for over USD 50,000 per kilogram.

AGARWOOD & OUD OIL MARKET DEMAND

The current global market for "Oud Oil" and other related Agarwood products is over USD 12 Billion Annually and is growing rapidly. The global fragrance industry is by far the major buyer of Oud Oil and global agarwood and oud oil sales are expected to exceed US$ 36 billion by 2030.

Oud Oil is a key ingredient in many mainstream luxury branded fragrances. The Oud content in each fragrance typically ranges from 0.6 to 8% depending on the strength of the Oud essence that the perfumer wishes to display within the character of the fragrance.

In addition to the fragrances listed, Oud is also used in literally 100's of Middle Eastern ranges and bespoke fragrances; as a base note fragrance for candles, incense sticks, soaps and more recently face and body cream. It can also be used as a raw, undiluted oil and applied to the body daily.

FORESTRY & TIMBER AS AN ASSET CLASS

Forestry plantations have over the last decade moved from the alternative market space to become the mainstream asset class of choice for sophisticated individuals looking to diversify their portfolios and hedge their risk against traditional markets.

FORESTRY VS. OTHER ASSET CLASSES (1987-2019)

Superior Performance

Forestry in the longterm has outperformed almost all asset classes including equities, bonds, oil, gold and real estate.

Inflation Hedging

Forestry protects against inflation better than any other asset class. A trees value grows regardless of market conditions.

Diversification

Due to its low correlation to the financial markets, forestry provides excellent portfolio diversification and is a natural hedge against inflation.

Biological Growth

Biological growth is unrelated to the performance of the economy. Trees keep growing and increase in value as they age.
